Artist Statement

Crystal Neubauer is a Mixed Media Artist drawn to the broken, cast out, and overlooked items of the past. She sees beauty in the mundane, brings new life to forgotten objects, and finds the process of salvaging old materials and creating new art to be therapeutic and healing. As her work evolves, a more complete understanding of why she does what she does and chooses to use materials that others see as trash comes to light:

It's about seeing something beautiful in the discarded,
 About giving new life to what has been broken and cast out.
 It's about seeing worth in what has been deemed worthless,
 And value in the valueless.
 Ultimately it's about humanity
 And redemption
 And love.
